BETHLEHEM, Jordan (AP) -Worshippers knelt solemnly before the Christ child's manger Monday as Christmas pilgrims from many lands began converging on this little hillside town where Jesus and Christianity were born.

Guides, postcard peddlers and souvenir sellers mingled with VOL. 75—NO. 225 the Pilgrims on the stone-paved nativity church square. Overhead an electric sign proclaimed "Welcome to Bethle-

Jury Indicts De Angelis

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)-A federal grand jury indicted Anthony De Angelis Monday on charges of circulating more than $39 million in forged warehouse receipts in his attempt to corner the vegetable oil market.

De Angelis is president of the bankrupt Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., whose New York and Chicago commodities markets and created an international scandal involving $100 million in edible oils. The 18-count indictment More Force charges De Angelis with interstate transportation of forged warehouse receipts between Against Reds Bayonne, Allied's headquarters, and New York City.

Peace On Earth

It will be a white Christmas this year in the Pocono Mountains-six inches or more of snow fell vesterday just in time to pave the way for Santa Claus to answer all the children's letters in today's Daily Record.

It will be a white Christmas and a peaceful one when compared to many in this century.

Just a year ago, the world was still shaking from the Cuban missile crisis which took us to the brink of nuclear war. Ten years ago the world was beginning to rediscover peace after the Korean War. Twenty years ago we were in the midst of the Second World War.

Christmas, 1963, finds the world still in one piece and without a major conflict of the world's great powers.

There are U. S. soldiers standing guard on the border with Communist North Korea, There are U. S. military men fighting and dying in the battle against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam. There are thousands of U.S. servicemen standing guard against Communism in Europe and West Berlin.

But we have lived another year without atomic disaster.

And we have taken some firm steps forward toward a more stable world peace.

A nuclear testing treaty was signed this year by the East and the West and almost all the nations of the world. A new and apparently more real "peaceful coexistence" came into being and there were hopes for further steps toward East-West cooperation.

Even the grimest reminder of the cold war-the Berlin Wall-took on the special Christmas spirit as the East German Communists opened that border for free West Berliners to visit their relatives during the holiday.

Some thought the Berlin Wall opening at Christmas was ordered by Russian Communists anxious to prove to a new American President that they want to live peacefully and compete peacefully for power in the world.

Whatever its meaning, this small concession by Communism to freedom and humanity at Christmas seemed to characterize a year of relative peace in the

Scranton's Christmas

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania's "first family" will observe Christmas tomorrow along with thousands of other families throughout the Keystone State-but the pattern will follow a somewhat unique tradition running a gamut of three generations!

Governor and Mrs. Scranton, along with their four children are all at the family home of "Marworth," about ten miles north of the City of Scranton. The Governor checked in over the weeknd. unquestionably a good reason. By tonight - Christmas Eve -nearly 70 (1) members of the "immediate family" (Scranton family, that is) will be on hand for what has become a most unique Christmas tradition in the Scranton family.

This gathering of the clan was not the Governor's idea, nor was it his mother's, nor his father's but that of his grandfather. It all started that long ago-and the fact that today William Warren Scranton happens to be Pennsylvania's Governor doesn't make the slight-

Actually the tradition has grown to such proportions that it no longer can be handled in just an evening-after-dinner. There will be a big (obviously!) dinner tonight at "Marworth"-and it will be during the course of the dinner that the skits and individual presentations will start.

There will of course be the usual exchanging of presents -but believe it or not, ere Santa and his troops have fled by morningtide every person will get a stocking stuffed with Christmas goodies!

It is small wonder perhaps that Mary Scranton headed for "Marworth" a week ago to make certain the tremendous detail would be taken care of properly-plus the fact that some 15 of the near seventy will be staying at "Marworth" for two or three days, utilizing a good portion of the 22-room Georgian home.

Where did the name "Marworth" (which sits atop a hill overlooking some 240 "Marworthian" acres) originate? The Governor named it for his parents - Worthington and Marion Margery Scranton.

Big Tax Breaks

WASHINGTON - Woe to the taxpayer who fails to file an income return, but it's a very different story where a $122 million DuPont foundation is concerned.

The Internal Revenue Service is rough and tough in cracking down on negligent taxpayers, but it is a kindly and generous Santa Claus in dealing with equally remiss

Penalties for not filing tax returns are the same in both instances -fines up to $10,-000 and jail terms. The big difference is the way the IRS treats them.

The taxpayer gets clobbered. The foundation goes scot-free.

A graphic illustration of this remarkable backstage policy has come to light as a result of the extended probing by Representative Wright Pat-

He is married and has several children. He and his family are moving out of the city, and now my girl friend is planning to quit her job and try to find one where he is going. She says she realizes that he is not free to marry her, but she can't live without being near him. I am trying to talk her out of it but am not having very much luck. I hate to see her hurt. Speaking Of Your Health:

Grandma Was A Wise Doctor

When grandma took on the role of doctor there were no antibiotics, no antihistamines, no cortisone nasal sprays for the treatment of the common cold. But she had a great many wise ideas about the prevention and cure of a cold that were told to her grandmother by her grandmother.

The fact that these remedies have survived indicates that there must be some validity to their usefulness.

Grandma did not know that the common cold is caused by a virus whose "nucleic acid content is variable." Although physicians today do know this, they are almost as limited as Grandma was in ability to prevent the common cold, Listen To Her

If your Grandma makes these suggestions to prevent a cold, don't be impatient with her . . . she knows what's good for your health. Stay out of crowds, keep warm, avoid chills, keep your feet dry, don't kiss sniffling relatives, get enough rest, eat nourishing food, take supplementary vitamins, keep out of drafts, guard against the spray of sneezes. This is all good advice, and effective cold prevention.

If, despite these precautions, your eyes get bleary, your bones and joints ache, your nose gets full, you develop a little fever, and you are too tired to watch a Western . . . you've probably got a cold. And plan on having it (preferably keeping it to yourself) for at least five days. With due respect to grandma this is the time to call your doctor

Medical Decision

Your physician now is confronted with thhe decision as to whether or not to prescribe an antibiotic. The virus that causes the common cold is not affected by the antibiotics. If an antibiotic is used, its purpose is to prevent the extension of the common cold into a complicating bacterial infec-

For treating the cold itself, most of the physician's suggestions are directed at alleviating the patient's discomfort. The real comfort, however comes from the doctor's "assistant" in the home-your grandma, if you're lucky enough to have one.

First, comes the warm bath for the cold, wet feet. Then she offers the big bowl of homemade chicken soup which is so hot and "nourishing" (chicken soup has been called "grandma's penicillin").

The patient is now tucked in bed, out of drafts, with a dose of aspirin for the fever. A pitcher of fruit juice is prepared with love, followed by hot milk and honey to soothe the throat, an ice bag for the headache. The steam vaporizer goes full blast, and the patient is on his way to

The physician's contribution during the early phases of a cold are important in reducing the severity, the duration and the possibility of complications that are associated with the common cold. By closely watching the progress of the common cold, he is able to judge when and if an antibiotic should be taken.

Heed Early Signals The common cold can be just a temoprary, incapacitating nulsance, especially if treated early. When the first warning signals of a cold are neglected, it can be easily transformed into a more complicated illness. Nasal sprays and antihistamines should be used only under specific medical direction. Returning to full activity before one has completely recovered almost always makes the patient a candidate for more infections. A general feeling of weakness and debility usually follows even simple 'unimportant" colds.

The day may not be far off when a vaccine for the common cold will be as common and as effective as the vaccine for polio and measles.

The symptoms of the common cold and of influenza are sufficiently alike so that the two are often confused. Public health authorities are recommending immunization against influenza, For details, consult your own doctor.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows man, D-Tex., chairman of the Banking & Currency Committee, of more than 500 tax-free foundations and their complex financial and business operations and manipulations. The assets of these foundations.

many of which are deeply engaged in business enterprises, run into billions of dollars. Patman has ascertained that the Longwood Foundation, of the DuPont family and headed by Henry B. DuPont, did not file tax returns for the four years of 1955 through 1958. The Longwood Foundation, with $122 million in assets, had receipts of more than $32 million between 1951 and 1960. In fact, this DuPont foundation filed returns only after Patman's investigation uncovered its failure to do so.

But this disregard of the law went unscathed. The IRS did nothing about it.

The foundation's president has admitted this in a letter to Patman. Henry DuPont stated no penalties were imposed by the Revenue Service against the $122 million foundation for failing to file four years' tax

"This is shocking and outrageous," declared Patman. Foundations, like everyone else, must file tax returns and are subject to penalties for failure to do so. While uneducated sharecroppers are presumed to know the law and are held responsible for violations, many foundations we are examining and their wellpaid and well-educated officials and advisers are apparently exempt from this rule. That is indefensible.

Getting the Works - In striking contrast to the Longwood Foundation's gentle treatment by IRS is what happened to a little taxpayer in Lake County, Calif.

He was literally hounded by the Revenue Service. That's the irate account received by Patman in a letter from a neighbor of this taxpayer. Highlights are as fol-

His income for the years 1959, 1960 and 1961 averaged around $6,-000. He is a rather outspoken Mayo, and he wrote a senator and offered some suggestions on legislation to protect lowbracket citizens from false claims filed against them by the IRS. "The senator turned the letter over to the IRS, and this taxpayer was promptly put on the black-list. As a consequence, an audit was started of this taxpayer's records for the three years causing him a great deal of annoyance and harassment. The agent confided to the taxpayer that this action had been 'ordered' by the regional IRS office. "After much digging and examining, the agent was unable to find any errors in the reporting of this taxpayer's income, which mind you, averaged only $6,000 per year. The agent admitted as much. Yet in the end, after six months. they came up with a claim for $660 in additional taxes, penalties and interest. That's the way they retaliated against this outspoken taxpayer."

In a report published in October, Patman charged that the Internal Revenue Service is making a mockery of enforcing the laws regulating the thousands of tax-exempt foundations with assets totaling billions of dollars. As a result of this shocking "nonfeasance," the government is annually losing tens of millions in taxes.

Criticism Declared Unwarranted

HARRISBURG - Frank C. Miller's criticism of the Scranton administration and particularly of the payroll processing procedure is termed "unwarranted" by William G. Murphy, an aide to Gov. Scranton. Murphy made the statement in a letter to Miller after an investigation of Miller's case was recently made.

Miller, of Pocono Pines, was appointed as a temporary hourly engineering assistant in Pennsylvania Highway Department's District Five in Allentown on June 17, 1963.

In November of this year he was changed from an hourly employe to a salaried employe and said he had not been paid for eight weeks.

Miller listed as his reason for resigning from the position as "Not being paid." His resignation was effective Dec. 11, 1963.

Violator Has Double Trouble

STROUDSBURG - Elwood Morrow, 45, of RD 2, Box 189, Wilkes-Barre, Saturday was arrested twice, committed to the Monroe County Jail twice, and was released twice.

State Police from the Stroudsburg substation first arrested him on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Morrow was taken to Justice of the Peace Ruth Miller in Stroud Twp. where he paid $30 in fines and costs. He was then released from jail for the first

He was then arrested by State Police on a charge of making a counterfeit 1963 validating sticker and displaying the said sticker. The validating sticker is commonly known as the car inspection sticker.

Again Morrow was taken before Mrs. Miller and was released after posting $1,000 bail.

Soviet Army Moves Troops

LONDON (AP) - Secret reports reaching Western governments from Moscow say there has been a sizeable shift recently of Soviet army units toward the Communist Chinese frontier.

Receipt of these reports was acknowledged in Paris and London in the past few days by high officials of several important Atlantic pact powers.

According to informed officials, the eastward movement of Soviet troops was detectedand reported-in October. One senior diplomat described the shift as having been moderate

The Soviet troops, according to these informants, were understood to be heading toward the frontier of Red China's Sinkiang Province. No indication was given, however, of new tensions in that area.

Western governments, nevertheless, are aware that over the past two years at least there has been serious trouble between the two giant Communist neighbors in and around Sin-

"Merry Christmas" is a greeting that can become as stereotyped as the "How are you?" we fling at friends as we rush by, giving them no chance to answer, or the "I'm sorry" as we collide with other time-driven, package-laden passersby.

But not today! Today, the "I'm sorry" swells like a lump in my throat for all the newly-lonely who have not yet developed a scar tissue to turn the sharp pain to dull sche where the most important part of their life has been cut away.

Behind the "How are you?" there is a genuine concern for those who are sick of heart because they have no one to share the joy of the season, whose houses stay neat and uncluttered and who have no cause for anxious pacing worrying about the storm for those who are coming home.

And my "Merry Christmas" goes deeper than the gifts you find under your Christmas tree or how many pounds your turkey weighs. I've already had my Merry Christmas in the fact that even without a house, I am "home" to a niece and nephew whose parents are abroad, to my own children who are leaving far more spacious and comfortable quarters to share Christmas with me to my parents willing to chance a Christmas dinner that will be prepared on two burners and an electric frypan.

I could wish you no merrier Christmas than this: in homes large or small, your own or another's, even though you are alone, that you should feel loved and needed - for that is the real Christmas message. "God so loved the world . . .

WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Tomorrow is Christmas, and as I sit in my office writing this column, I am wondering what I can say that will in any way convey my feelings to you on this glorious, joyous, and reverent occasion. Christmas comes but once a year . . . and this is good. I do not say this facetiously, from the standpoint of one weary of the noise, confusion, expense and demands of the season, but with the sincere feeling that the Yuletide is too precious a time to spread around loosely, Christmas is like a vial of expensive perfume . . . a light sprinkling of it lifts the spirit, making us long for more. But if we had an over-abundance of it every day, we would become so accustomed to it, I'm afraid we would fail to appreciate what it is and how much glory it brings into our lives. It is to be regretted that the fragrance Christmas imparts while it is with us, does not last longer . . . the "fragrance" that is represented by the sudden mellowing of every heart. . . the increasing of our compassion, love, and charity toward one another.

There are many who decry the commercialism of Christmas. They feel we are forgetting the true meaning of the day. In some cases this may be true. But it is not so in all instances. When we love, we wish to give to the object of our affections whether it be friend . . son . . . daughter . . . husband, wife, or sweetheart ... or the little waif knocking at our door to voice a wistful "Merry Christmas". And I am sure that countless thousands of the gifts sold and gift wrapped in stores across our nation and around the world this year are being given in a spirit of true Christian love: the same love that drew the Wise Men to a manger years ago, bearing their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. The same love that drew the shepherds from the hills with nothing but adulation in their eyes and awe in their

It is to be hoped that the gifts you give and those you receive are symbolic of this great love that IS Christmas. Only then will you enjoy to the fullest the truly memorable "Merry Christmas" that I, and my associates here at Wycholf-Sears, wish for you and yours.

letters were received after the deadline for the special Christmas edition, and it was physically and technically impossible to include them in today's issue.

However, all the letters went through Santa's office before they were relayed to The Daily Record. So, for the youngsters, we say: Don't worry; Santa saw them first!

Bergman's Junior Program is simple and to the point. Basic fundamentals are taught. Ideas the kids pick up are proper selection of a bowling ball, four-step approach to foul line, release of ball. Each bowler must go under an intensive instruction period before being assigned to a team. In leagues, bowlers are under constant supervision to make sure they have acquired the proper knowledge and are using it to the fullest.

Established Monroe Count bowlers like the program. In off-the-cuff talks with the high and mighty of area leagues, Bergman's movement means bigger and better things for the sport in the Pocono Moun-

One kegler commented, "Every year a few bowlers leave the fold either by age or other commitments. Now with this program we are able to look forward to replacements to fill the vacancies."

If you don't think these young bowlers have a lot on the ball take a look at some of the scores registered by them:

a 256. Gary Bergman tabbed a 222, and Ray Gould, 220; Craig Heller, 217; John Stevens, 214; Dean Treible, 206; and John Roberts, 203. In three-game sets Gould

The gals also do allright.

The junior leagues are bonafide circuits. Each is sanctioned by the ABC and meet the various specifications in each class. For example the bantam class is from 9 to 12 years; the junior from 13 to 15 and senior from 15 to 18. Awards are given individuals for high one and three games,

GOLD-STRIKE

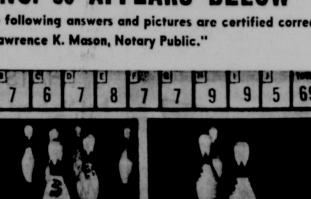

BOWLING CONTEST

$45.00 Cash Prize This Week

ANYONE CAN PLAY! ANYONE CAN WIN! ENTER TODAY!

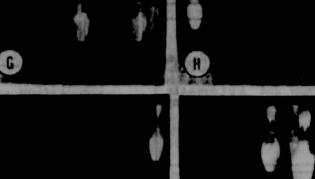

ANSWER TO CONTEST NO. 36 APPEARS BELOW

"The following answers and pictures are certified correct by Lawrence K. Mason, Notary Public."

NO WINNER LAST WEEK

Lumber

It's Easy!

Just determine correctly the number of pins knocked down in each photo. Enter score and sponsor's name in the proper box below. Do not add each frame. Strikes count 10.

FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES:

On this page are clues and pictures in the advertisements of sports-minded Pocono Area business firms. Simply determine the number of pins knocked down as a results of the action depicted in each picture. Enter that number in the corresponding box on the entry blank. Do NOT add the scores as you go along as in regular bowling. But totaled together your individual scores should equal the total score indicated. Strikes are counted as 10 and do NOT affect the score in the succeeding box. Fill in the rest of the entry blank. To the person getting the exact correct score in each box and complying with the rules will go the cash prizes.

THIS WEEK'S ENTRIES MUST BE IN THE DAILY RECORD OFFICE OR POSTMARKED NO LATER THAN THURSDAY

Anyone within the circulation area of The Daily Record except employes of this newspaper and members of their families are eligible. If more than one correct solution is received the prize money will be equally divided between the winners. If no correct answers are received an additional $5.00 will be is offered. Decision of the judges is final and all contestants taking part agree to accept those decisions as a condition of entry. The name of the winner and pictures will be published next Tuesday. Watch for a new bowling contest each week in The Daily Record.

Clip along dot-ted line and mail or bring to The Daily Record office.

SCORE

Deadline for entries is

Thurs. 4 P.M. It is not necessary to use this entry blank. You may use a in piece of paper, but the games and firm names must b listed in numerical order as on entry blank.

CHAPTER SEVEN THREE LITTLE HAUNTS

WHAT the children saw in the Haunted house was a purple-faced, toothless, baldheaded, bottle - shaped creature and what they heard was the beating of a wooden spoon in a mixing bowl.

They knew right way that the purple - faced, toothless, baldheaded, bottle-shaped creature was Nog and what Nog was beating up in the mixing bowl was a Trouble Cake for Santa Claus.

There was a candle on the table and by its flickering light the children saw all the ingredients of the cake as old Nog took them up and threw them

Finally Jeremy climbed to the top of the curve and stretched out flat with his arms Sissy and Miss Jo. They straddled the lower curve. Sissy held on to Miss Jo and Miss Jo held on to the sides and they were ready to go.

All this time Manfred the Moonlighter held on to the moon with both hands. He kept saying, "Hurry now. This thing has to go up on time!" When they were all set, he looked at the big watch on his wrist and began to count off the seconds. 'Six - vive-four - three - two-ONE!" When he said ONE he let go of the moon and it sprang into the sky.

Jeremy poked his head over the side and waved at the Moonlighter. "How will know where to get off?"

The gnome waved back and shouted something but what it was the children couldn't hear. They were already too far away. The ground slipped away. They could see whole towns and even whole kingdoms as lights went on in thousands of homes below them.

Presently the lights disappeared and the moon sailed on. Then Miss Jo cried, "Look!" She pointed to a silver star

A Visit From St. Nicholas

was the night before Christmas, when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse; The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there; The children were nestled all snug in their beds, While visions of sugar plums danced in their heads; And Mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap, Had just settled our brains for a long Winter's nap, When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter, I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter. Away to the window I flew like a flash, Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash. The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow Gave the luster of midday to objects below. When, what to my wondering eyes did appear, But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer, With a little old driver, so lively and quick, I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick. More rapid than eagles his coursers they came, And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name; "Now, Dasher! now Dancer! now Prancer and Vixen! On, Comet on, Cupid! on Donder and Blitzen! To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!" As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky. So up to the house-top the coursers they flew, With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas, too.

Born July 15, 1779 and died July 10, 1863, Clement Clarke Moore, a 1798 graduate of Columbia College, N.Y. and scholar in religion wrote this now famous ballad in 1822 as a Christmas gift for his children. It is now considered one of the most popular poems amongst Children in America at Christmas time. The original text printed here is from The Troy-Sentinel, Troy, N. Y. newspaper where it was first published in 1829 anonymously by a friend.

And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof The prancing and pawing of each little hoof. As I drew in my head, and was turning around, Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound. He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot, And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot; A bundle of toys he had flung on his back, And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack. His eyes—how they twinkled! his dimples how merry! His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry! His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow, And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow; The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth, And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath; He had a broad face and a little round belly That shook, when he laughed, like a bowlful of jelly. He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself; A wink of his eye and a twist of his head, Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread; He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work, And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk, And laying his finger aside of his nose, And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose; He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle, And away they all flew like the down of a thistle. But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight, "Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good night."
